

RESOURCE DIRECTORY

A Woman's Right to Know

© 2016 Department of State Health Services.

All rights reserved.

In this Resource Directory you will find a list of Texas agencies and organizations that may be able to help you with financial and health care services. These resources can help you during your pregnancy and childbirth and help your newborn baby and children as they grow.

The Texas Health and Human Services Commission (HHSC) does not endorse nor recommend any specific agency. This directory of organizations is provided to help you find services near you that meet your and your family's needs.

How to use the Woman's Right to Know Resource Directory:

1. Look for the county where you live or the county where you would like to receive services.
2. Look for the type of agency you need.
3. Call one of the agencies listed, and tell them what you need.
4. If they are not able to help you, ask them whom you should call.

You may also call 2-1-1 Texas, a toll-free, 24-hour telephone number, to get a list and description of agencies near you, the services they offer, and information about how to contact them. Dial 2-1-1 or 877-541-7905, or visit www.211Texas.org.

Many people across the state can help you. They will answer your questions or tell you whom to call. Remember: Keep asking questions until you get the help you need.

After you give birth, if you find that being a parent is too hard, you or the baby's father can leave your baby with an emergency care provider. The baby must appear to be under 60 days old. You do not have to return for the baby, and you will not be charged with a crime if the baby is not hurt. This is called the "Baby Moses/ Safe Haven" law. Emergency care providers include emergency medical services stations, fire stations and hospitals.

You should also talk to someone if you feel weighed down about being a parent. There is help available.

Statewide Services

The following programs can provide medical, financial and support services. Contact them to see if you qualify for services.

2-1-1 Texas Information and Referral Network

2-1-1 or 877-541-7905 (toll-free)

www.211Texas.org

2-1-1 Texas, a program of HHSC, is a free, anonymous and easy way to find out about services you can get in your area or through state programs. Whether by phone or internet, you can find accurate, well-organized information from state and local health and human services programs. Available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year, 2-1-1 provides information on food and housing, child care, crisis counseling and substance abuse treatment.

Children with Special Health Care Needs (CSHCN) Program

800-252-8023 (toll-free)

www.dshs.texas.gov/cshcn/default.shtm

The CSHCN Services Program at DSHS helps children with special health care needs and people of any age with cystic fibrosis. The program helps clients with their:

- Medical, dental and mental health care
- Drugs
- Special therapies
- Case management
- Family support services
- Travel to health care visits
- Insurance premiums
- Transportation of deceased clients

Healthy Texas Women

2-1-1, option 2 or 877-541-7905 (toll-free)

www.healthytexaswomen.org/htw-program

Healthy Texas Women is a new program that includes family planning services, related preventive health services that are beneficial to reproductive health, and other preventive health services that positively affect maternal health and future pregnancies.

Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services

Mental health services help:

www.dshs.texas.gov/mhsa-mh-help

Mental health services search:

www.dshs.texas.gov/mhservices-search

Substance abuse services search:

www.dshs.texas.gov/sa-search

Find mental health services in your area, a listing of mental health crisis hotlines, and substance abuse services such as treatment, prevention and intervention programs, including licensed substance abuse facilities.

Office of the Attorney General (OAG)

800-252-8014 (toll-free)

texasattorneygeneral.gov/cs/welcome-to-the-child-support-division

The OAG can help you get child support (the child's father is legally obligated to provide child support), locating a non-custodial parent, determining paternity, and establishing and enforcing child-support orders.

Texas Department of Family and Protective Services (DFPS)

www.dfps.state.tx.us/child_care/search_texas_child_care

DFPS licenses and regulates child care centers in Texas. You can find licensed and regulated child care centers in your county on the website.

Texas Department of State Health Services (DSHS)

www.dshs.texas.gov

DSHS is the state's public health agency and provides numerous health-related services and resources.

Texas Health and Human Services Commission (HHSC)

www.hhsc.texas.gov

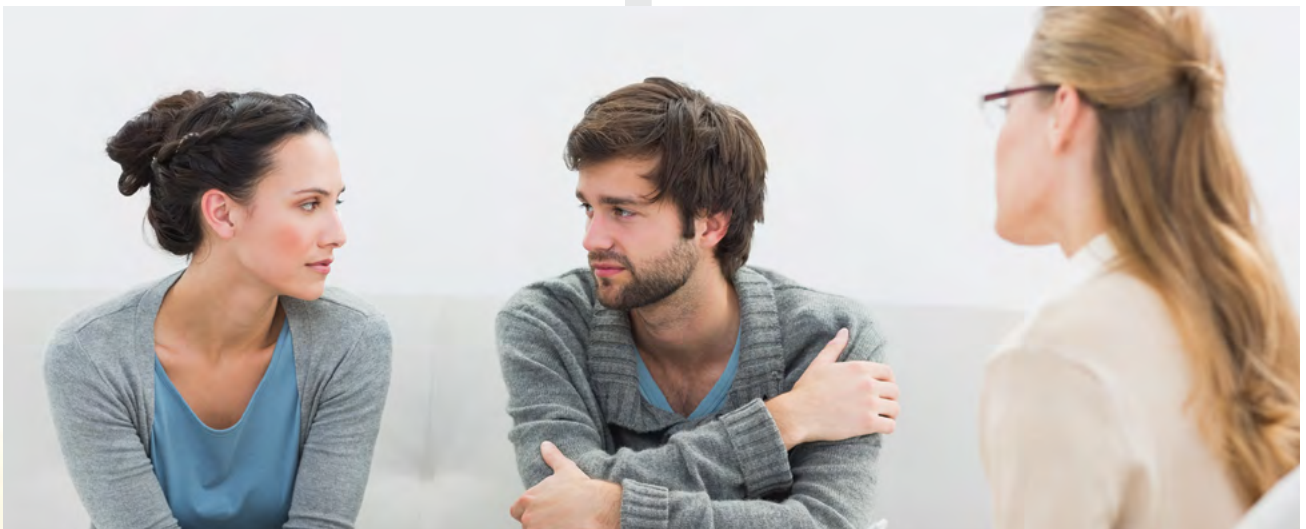

HHSC is the state agency that oversees Texas health and human service programs and the operations of the health and human services system.

Your Texas Benefits

888-834-7406 (toll-free)

yourtexasbenefits.hhsc.texas.gov/

HHSC provides financial help, food and medical care to low-income Texans through Texas SNAP, TANF, Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP), medical assistance (Medicaid) and other programs.

Services by County

The Woman's Right to Know Resource Directory lists the following public and private agencies, organizations and services organized by county and type of organization. Types of organizations that have no agency physically located within the county are marked with an asterisk (*). However, some organizations may provide services in more locations than those listed.

If you do not see an agency in your county, use the following links or call 2-1-1 Texas for a list of agencies and available resources offered in your area.

Adoption Agencies

www.dfps.state.tx.us/child_care/search_Texas_child_care/ppfacilitysearchadoption.asp

DFPS licenses adoption agencies that can help place your baby or child with a new family.

Birthing Centers

www.dshs.texas.gov/facilities/find-a-licensee.aspx

DSHS licenses birthing centers where pregnant women can deliver their babies. The mother and unborn child must not have had complications during the pregnancy.

Early Childhood Intervention (ECI) Services

dmzweb.dars.state.texas.us/prd/citysearch

ECI is a statewide system of services for families of babies and toddlers, birth to 3 years of age, with disabilities or developmental delays.

Public Health Organizations and DSHS Health Service Regions

www.dshs.texas.gov/rls/localservices/default.shtm

Public health organizations vary in size and range of services provided, based on availability and type of funding, expertise and need as determined by the communities they serve. Public health at the local level is categorized into three types: local health departments, public health districts and local health units.

Contact your local public health office for services available in your area. Services provided by local public health organizations include:

- Immunization services
- Communicable disease prevention and treatment (HIV/STD)

- Tuberculosis treatment and prevention services
- Chronic disease prevention
- Maternal and child health care services (including WIC)
- Food safety and sanitation services (restaurant/retail food establishment inspections)
- Environmental health services (water, sewage, air quality)

If you live in a community that does not have a local public health organization, please call the DSHS Health Service Regions at 512-776-7770 or go to:

www.dshs.texas.gov/regions/default.shtm

Maternity Homes

texaspregnancy.org

Maternity homes serve pregnant women with a broad range of services, regardless of whether or not an adoption is planned. Texas does not regulate maternity homes.

Pregnancy Care Centers

texaspregnancy.org

These private agencies provide pregnancy counseling and support services. Texas does not license pregnancy care centers.

Women, Infants, Children Services (WIC) Supplemental Nutrition Program

800-942-3678 (toll-free)

www.texaswic.org

DSHS contracts with agencies and organizations to provide services under the WIC Program. WIC provides nutrition education, nutritious foods, referrals to health and human services, breastfeeding support and immunizations at some clinics. Clients receive individual nutrition counseling and nutrition classes. Many clinics offer classes especially for children.

The directory also includes state agencies that offer sonogram services at no cost and do not affiliate with, refer to or provide abortion-related services.
